City Saves $1800 A Year On Garbage

Same Contractor Cuts Price From $200 to $50 A Month

Competitive bidding for the removal of Sierra Madre garbage and rubbish, as arranged by City Business Manager Al S. Myers, will save the taxpayers $1800 a year during the next three years. A contract for the three-year period was awarded by the Council on Wednesday night to Harrison Wright, of Pasadena, on his bid to continue the service as at present, for $50 a month. He is now and for several years has had the contract for $200 a month. His new contract calls for two garbage collection a week and one rubbish collection a month at every household in the city. Heretofore Wright has not been obliged to bid for the job. There were seven bidders in all. S. A. Sarkisian, of Venice, was highest with a bid of $275 a month. E. J. Mead, of Baldwin Park, with a bid of $120 was Wright's only close competitor. A bond to guarantee the faithful fulfillment of his contract accompanied Wright's bid.

N. B. Hutton Loses Foot In The Hunt

N. B. Hutton, prominent Sierra Madre stockbroker, is recovering in the Pasadena hospital from injuries suffered last Saturday while duck hunting in Imperial Valley. The injuries, which made it necessary to amputate Mr. Hutton's right foot, resulted when a boy accidentally discharged the Sierra Madrean's shotgun.

Lying at the hospital today Mr. Hutton generously assumed all responsibility for the accident, claiming it had resulted from his own negligence. He declared it would be unfair to over-shadow the youth's future by blaming him for showing a normal, youthful curiosity in a shotgun.

Mr. Hutton, his wife, and a party of friends, according to the story reconstructed today, visited a small ranch near Mecca for some early duck shooting. The accident climaxed a successful morning of sport, it was said.

The youth, about 14 years of age, had been guiding the local man during the hunting. Although an experienced hunter and owner of a gun himself, he had been particularly attracted by the more modern and powerful gun of his companion. Despite a previous warning not to touch the weapon, he did so while Mr. Hutton was gazing in another direction. Unfamiliar with the heavy weapon, he touched the trigger and sent a double charge of shot into Mr. Hutton's ankle, completely shattering the bone.

After dragging himself nearly a mile to his car, Mr. Hutton managed to reach the ranch house, where temporary first aid was administered by reservation Indians. He was taken to Indio, where a doctor diagnosed the case as calling for a delicate surgical operation.

Transportation in a makeshift ambulance, which suffered a blow-out and was sideswiped by a truck while enroute to Pasadena, the injured man was brought to the local hospital. He was too exhausted Saturday night to stand an operation, which was postponed until the following morning. Mr. Hutton is recovering nicely, hospital attaches report, and may return to his home shortly. Meanwhile Mrs. Hutton is staying at the hospital, where a cot has been installed for her use.

Took Nine Turkeys To Feed Guests At St. Rita's Bazaar

Notwithstanding the weather on Saturday evening, 239 turkey dinners were served at St. Rita's Bazaar. Nine large turkeys were required for the dinner. The auditorium was filled both Friday and Saturday evenings.

Following are some of those present who were fortunate enough to take home valuable articles: Mrs. W. J. Schiltz of 67 East Highland avenue, received the Majestic electric refrigerator; Miss Genevieve M. O'Neill of 1464 West 25th street, Los Angeles, Majestic Radio; W. L. Hibbs of 249 Ramona avenue, electric clock; A. Angelo, 10162 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, auto attachment; Mrs. H. T. Watts, 1235 2nd street, Santa Monica, auto tire; Mrs. Snyder of 3330 Foot-hill Blvd., flower dish; Mrs. W. A. Kinney, $5 order on McDonald & O'Byrne; E. Smith, 249 Wilson street, a turkey; Ray Reyes, Pasadena, box of candy; Lucille Richardson, El Monte, a pillow; and Mrs. L. Wynne, 273 Sturtevant Trail, a scarf.

Mrs. Charles Young, president of the Altar Society, and Mrs. Edward Hoevel, president of the Holy Name Society, were in charge of arrangements.

Keep Hoboes Out Aim Of Woodpile

Householders Asked To Co-Operate With Officials And Relief Committee

All housekeepers who are bothered by men coming to the door and asking to be fed are urged to send such applicants to the Local Relief Headquarters in the Sierra Madre Hotel Building on West Central.

The plan adopted by the city for caring for these men by means of a municipal woodpile is being operated through Relief Headquarters. Any hungry men may eat, but the food must be earned.

City Business Manager Al S. Myers said today: "We should have 100 per cent cooperation of our citizens in putting this through if the plan is to accomplish its whole object. The Council wished to put the burden of caring for these transients where it belongs, on the city as a whole, and lift it from the relatively small number who have been feeding those who come to their doors."

Art Group Plans Party For Artists

A reception for the contributing artists will occur in the Little Gallery on the evening of December 3rd at 8 o'clock. This will formally open the exhibit of painting for the month. Artists contributing this month are Carl Gist, Helen A. Jordan and William Lees Judson.

Carl Gist, creator of crayon portraits of some of our best known Southern California people, and also of flower paintings of great strength and beauty, studied portrait painting with Blanck, of Berlin, and with Otto Wolfe, of Munich. He painted in St. Joseph, Mo., for many years and came to California in 1922. His studio is now in Pasadena.

Helen A. Jordan, a younger member of the California Art Club, contributes four paintings. She is a creative artist whose imagination is expressed in freedom from hackneyed subjects.

William Lees Judson, master painter, was born in Manchester, England, and settled in Canada when a boy. Most of his early work, which gave him distinction, was done in London.

All residents of Sierra Madre are invited to the reception for the exhibiting artists.

Friend Of Mahatma Gandhi Will Speak Here Next Tuesday

Rev. William Moyser, for many years a neighbor of Mahatma Gandhi in India, will be the speaker next Tuesday, December 1, on the program of the Bethany Missionary Society. Mr. Moyser arrived here less than a month ago, after having served as missionary to India for more than 37 years. He is a very alert, captivating speaker with a wealth of fascinating experiences to relate.

Young Family At Bazaar When Fire Ruins Their Home

Fire of undetermined origin last Saturday evening almost completely destroyed the home of Charles Young, at 210 Mariposa avenue, while members of the family were absent. Members of the local fire department fought with the blaze for several hours and were successful in preventing the flames from spreading to other nearby buildings.

At the time of the fire Mr. and Mrs. Young, accompanied by their children, were attending a bazaar at St. Rita's Shrine.

CITY LEGISLATES AGAINST HANDBILLS

When the City Council on Wednesday finally passed an ordinance making it illegal to litter lawns, and stuff mail boxes with handbills and throwaways, this city joined 39 other communities of the Southland in legislating against this nuisance. For several years complaints have been piling into the city authorities about the ever increasing number of handbills showered on lawns and in doorways, keeping housewives busy picking them up, and often carried on a sweep of wind through the streets, creating extra work for the street force. The new ordinance is now effective.

CHOOSE NEW OFFICERS FOR WOMAN'S SOCIETY

The annual election of officers of the Woman's Society of the Congregational Church will be held on Tuesday, December 1. There will be sewing at 10 o'clock in the morning, coffee and tea will be served at noon, followed by a business meeting and election.

NEW PAVING IN CANYON TRANSFORMS SECTION LIKE WAVING OF A FAIRY WAND

By HARRY BURKE

"D'you ever see that page ad and picture of the ideal road in America's most popular weekly?" asked Jim Heasley, of Canyon Park.

"Sure, I did," said Mayor Reavis.

"Right in our home town," added City Manager Myers. "Not a picture either, but the real thing."

The visitor, near kin to a skeptic, remarked that it was a little bit chilly for a tropical November.

"Come on along," chorused Mayor and City Manager. "We'll show you."

This writer once had occasion to mount the heights of Alta Vista, via Sturtevant Road. The car puffed, puffed, gagged, retreated, bumped over ruts, squirmed around turns, balanced perilously on the edge of a precipice, did a Lindbergh, or two, arched, and the compensation at the peak was the charming vista of the sun-swept San Gabriel valley, rolling away to the other hills in purple and green magnificence.

Now we climb Mountain Trail, turn into Sturtevant, enter the Canyon, cross the wash, hit a new roadway—a road as smooth and easy as cushioned glass. The grade goes up in steeple ascent, and in a trice the car stops. Where are the ruffs and bumps of yesterday? Where are the dizzy slopes, just a hairline away from a drop to oblivion? What magic wand has wrought this transformation with its safety first assurance?

The City of Sierra Madre did it—and by doing it brought the mountains to the valley, and, too, the valley to the mountains, by making them accessible. Yes, the little coughing flyover that once, climbing that grade, held conversation in course with every little cousin it could afford to know throughout the valley now can spurt to the crest, without a puff or wheeze.

Many Honor Dr. Murphy At Funeral

In a church filled with friends, relatives and lodge brothers, simple funeral services were held Tuesday morning for Dr. William Warren Murphy, of 565 West Central avenue. Dr. Murphy had been ill for several months, but despite his 85 years, had continued his practice in Los Angeles where he had been administering to the ills of others for more than 45 years.

The death of Dr. Murphy was deeply felt, both in Sierra Madre, where he had made many friends during a residence of eight years, and in Los Angeles, where he had extensive business and social connections.

The Church of the Ascension, where Rev. Arnold G. H. Bode officiated at the simple service, was filled with flowers.

Committal services, under the direction of Worshipful Master Jack Buchanan and Chaplain W. A. Evans, were conducted at Mountain View Cemetery by Sierra Madre Masonic Lodge No. 408. Pall bearers, members of the Sierra Madre lodge, were C. W. Jones, W. S. Hull, F. H. Hartman, N. W. Tarr, Fred Hooker and J. M. Steinberger.

Dr. Murphy was one of the founders of Al Malakiah Temple of Shriners, Los Angeles, and had been Worshipful Master of McPherson Lodge No. 172, Kansas. Previously moving to Los Angeles in 1886, he had practiced medicine in McPherson for over 20 years. He spent a year at Bellevue Hospital in New York as an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist. Although a Canadian by birth, he was a graduate of the Michigan University at Ann Arbor.

Dr. Murphy is survived by his second wife, Mrs. Helen Ferris Murphy. His first wife was Mrs. Mattie Murphy, a founder and for more than twelve years president of the Mothers Club of Los Angeles, which later became the Parent-Teacher's Association. Warren W. Murphy of Los Angeles, is a grandson.

CITY WORKER FOUND DEAD IN HIS HOME

Apparently a victim of heart failure, the lifeless body of George Quick, an employee of the Sierra Madre street department, was discovered by Mrs. Quick early last Wednesday morning. Although called to the Quick home at 148 West Highland immediately, the municipal first aid squad was unable to resuscitate the stricken man. Dr. M. H. A. Peterson declared he had been dead some hours.

An investigation into the cause of death was made by the county coroner's office, although it was not believed that an inquest would be ordered. The body was removed to the Grant Undertaking parlors, where funeral services may possibly be held tomorrow. Funeral arrangements are in charge of Rev. Arthur O. Pritchard.

other turn, the road goes to the Corum camp, with such comfortable ease, that the mountain seems surely to be coming down to Mohammed. And this was a strip strongly protested.

Back we go, up again, a turn to the left and down Oakdale Road, sandwiched between picturesque hills, opening up acres of ideal home sites. Then on down and up Woodland Drive to the shadow of the Little Santa Anita dam—the Main Street of Canyon Park.

"Yes, you can take any of these hills in high now," said Jim Heasley.

The last spade has been turned on the new roads. A few patches remain to be smoothed. The cost of the improvement will be approximately $47,000, but that sum has scaled Canyon Park from a pioneer's trail to a modernized city, second to none in the serenity and peace of its seclusion. Aladdin has come and checked out, leaving a dream come true.

Wanted! Toys To Cheer Up Poor Kiddies

The little red soldier with the broken arm—the red-cheeked doll with one eye gone and the stuffing protruding from a broken side, stand side by side, rejuvenated, remade, in the window of 66 Central avenue. Retrieved from some dark castaway closet, the nimble fingers of the city firemen have made them whole again, dressed them up with paint and glue, to start anew on a trail of joy for some poor Sierra Madre kiddie this Christmas time.

Many discarded toys have been donated by generous local residents, according to Fire Chief W. D. Richards, but contributions are still far from sufficient. Only enough have been received so far, he said, to occupy the fire eaters for several nights during their off hours.

"I want to ask those who have toys they intend to donate to this work not to hold back," Chief Richards requested. "The firemen are doing this work in their off hours, at night, and we must have the majority of work on the toys finished long before the season arrives. If you have toys that have been damaged or cast off, and desire to donate them to this cause—DO IT NOW."

Within a week much of the store front of the firemen will be occupied at selling tickets to the department's benefit dance for the needy, which takes place December 19, the fire chief said. This will leave but little time for working on the toys. The dance will be given at the Woman's Clubhouse.

Mrs. Richards and wives of the firemen are in charge of the store, also the site of the W. T. Bakery, where the fire eaters, local residents unable to deliver their groceries with heating equipment. A comparatively small amount of harm was reported by growers of vegetables, who are not adequately equipped to handle extreme cold, Col. Hersey said. Tender, growing tomatoes suffered the most, he declared.

Two Local Hunters Return With Feast Of 11 Wild Ducks

At least two Sierra Madre sportsmen were in a position today to boast of their hunting skill. They were T. W. Neale, of 22 North Baldwin avenue, and Roy J. Walsworth, of 20 South Baldwin avenue, who, in separate parties, made nice bags of duck at Henshaw Dam near San Diego early this week.

In three hours shooting last Sunday the Walsworth party, which included Earl Newcomb of Los Angeles, shot 11 birds. They reported plenty of duck are to be found at that spot. The same party intends to try their luck near the Salton Sea in the near future. Mr. Neale's catch was not reported, although it was declared to be large.

Observations

—By LEE SHIPPEY—

Nothing to be thankful for? Suppose you were hungry, as so many are, or cold, as so many are, or married to Mrs. Kennedy or the Marquis de la Falaise, as so many have been. Suppose you owned larger flats of unimproved land on a big, broad, beautifully-lighted, God-knows-why boulevard, and had to pay taxes on it right now. Suppose you'd bet your shirt on Notre Dame at odds of 2 to 1. Shucks! Most of us have so many things to be thankful for we couldn't count 'em on a centipede's toes! And yet a lot of us can't see it. Yes, a lot of us who are snug and well fed and haven't really appreciated how bad off the other fellow is have almost as much to be thankful for this Thanksgiving as we have to be ashamed of ourselves for.

Red Cross Response Is Generous

Membership Campaign Will Be Continued Here Until Whole City Is Canvassed

The Red Cross Roll Call reached its official close yesterday but belated memberships will be received at the headquarters for some time to come, judging by the experience of former years. A definite statement as to the amount collected is not available at this time as the latest returns have not been tabulated. A partial list of contributors appears in this week's News and will be continued next week.

Among the groups responding most generously to the appeal for aid were the Japanese residents of the city. There are no Japanese among the applicants for work or assistance but the Japanese Association has pledged a regular monthly contribution and took out Red Cross memberships up to 100%.

Subscriptions and pledges of service have been received from practically every society and organization in the city, according to a list of them made public at Red Cross headquarters today containing the names of the following:

American Legion, Firemen's Club, Teachers and Employees of City School, Dicken's Fellowship, Woman's Club, St. Catherine's Guild and Woman's Guild of Church of the Ascension, St. Rita's Church, City Employees.

Fear Storm Coming South For Weekend

Raging In Frisco, May Miss Sierra Madre, Says Col. Hersey

A serious storm, starting on the northern California coast and which early yesterday struck San Francisco and the San Joaquin Valley, threatens further low temperatures, more rain and discomfort, to Sierra Madre. It may not reach this vicinity, however, according to Col. H. B. Hersey, United States meteorological expert.

"It is only a possibility that the northern storm may reach this vicinity," Col. Hersey said. "Storms are rather uncertain in their actions. Otherwise it appears that Sierra Madre temperature will rise to a more comfortable level, although the weather will probably remain somewhat cloudy."

No serious damage was done to local citrus crops by this week's storm, the weatherman said, because growers here have fully protected their groves with heating equipment. A comparatively small amount of harm was reported by growers of vegetables, who are not adequately equipped to handle extreme cold, Col. Hersey said. Tender, growing tomatoes suffered the most, he declared.

Kiwanis Awards To Pep Students In Local Schools

Tentatively scheduled to begin the first of the year, the Sierra Madre Kiwanis club will inaugurate a system of making awards to "the best all around" students in local schools, public and parochial.

Approval of the new system has been given by Miss Elizabeth Steinberger, public school principal, who attended last Tuesday's meeting of the organization. Cecil F. Martin, physical education director, of Pasadena schools, was guest speaker and told of the success of the system as sponsored by the Pasadena Kiwanis club in the Pasadena school district, where it has been in operation nine years.

The system in Sierra Madre will apply to students of the lower grades, but Pasadena includes pupils in both the junior high schools and the junior college. Awards will be made on the general excellence of deportment, morale, scholastic standing.

A committee, headed by W. E. Craig, was appointed at Tuesday's meeting to confer with the Pasadena organization in the matter of adopting the system in Sierra Madre.

P.T.A. ASKS SUPPORT FOR SCHOOL MOVIES

"Jerry, the Giant" and "Felix Gets His Fill" will be the juvenile comedies to be presented by the Parent-Teacher's Association on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Grammar School auditorium. A committee, headed by W. E. Craig, was appointed at Tuesday's meeting to confer with the Pasadena organization in the matter of adopting the system in Sierra Madre.

Council Cuts Red Tape, Passes Ordinance To Start Work On Many Streets

Solves Unemployment Problem, Providing Jobs For Scores All Winter — Lack Of Overhead Fixes Cost At $7.50 To Owner For 50-Foot Lot

An ordinance that will permit Sierra Madre to work out its unemployment situation while increasing property values and beautifying the city at a nominal cost, was introduced and passed on first reading by the City Council on Wednesday night.

Under its provisions it will be possible to carry through minor improvements to be paid in cash at any time in the future. It was introduced at this time particularly to serve as the city's authority in the program worked out with the general committee of the city's relief organization, under which it is proposed to surface somewhat more than five miles of dirt streets.

The ordinance is identical with similar ordinances in effect in Pasadena and Alhambra. The latter city has been operating under its provisions since 1915.

In a general way the measure relieves the city of the necessity under the various acts of the legislature that entail big overhead expenditures for engineering, legal and other services that greatly add to the cost of municipal undertakings.

All this and other red tape is eliminated and the city is authorized, under certain conditions, to proceed with improvements with its own employees, after having adopted a resolution of intention to proceed with an improvement.

All improvements must be initiated upon petition of affected property holders whether they be upon a particular street or in a designated assessment district, thus preserving this fundamental feature of the State improvement acts. Also protests are provided by affected property holders, who object to the improvements proposed, and that feature of the new State law requiring all affected property interests to be given direct notices of intended improvements and protest hearings, is incorporated.

The city is given the right, out of its own treasury, to contribute towards a general improvement of general benefit to the community, the major expense of which is borne by the affected property owners.

Anticipating that the ordinance will be adopted at the next regular meeting of the Council, the central relief committee has arranged to canvass the property owners of several thoroughfares next week for the purpose of initiating the paving program worked out some time ago, and in which the new ordinance will play an important part. Members of the executive committee of the relief organization expect to have enough signatures to two or three petitions to have work started on as many streets, within two weeks after the ordinance is adopted.

As the paving program has been worked out in conferences between Business Manager Myers, the City Council and the Relief Committee, employment is assured a considerable number of men throughout the winter months, the number to be determined by the number of streets to be improved. The cost of surfacing the thoroughfares, in a plan worked out by Mr. Myers, is estimated at about one cent a square foot, so that the assessment to be borne by the owner of the average 50-foot lot will not exceed $7.50.

The streets to be laid, it is estimated, will be good for from eight to ten years, and the overhead expense of keeping up the present dirt streets will be greatly reduced, it is asserted.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. C. Roess, of 83 West Highland avenue, entertained with a family dinner party on Thanksgiving.

A hard time dinner party was featured by Col. and Mrs. H. B. Hersey, of 575 North Hermosa avenue, on Thanksgiving Day. The host and hostess had planned an outing at the Peter Pan Woodland Club for their guests, but due to the fact that there was over four feet of snow the trip had to be postponed. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Corlett, William Corlett, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Burbank and Gale Little.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lalone of 36 West Highland avenue, were host and hostess at a family dinner party on Thursday. Among the 16 guests were Mr. and Mrs. Seth Van Winkle, of Pasadena, and Alfred Dameschke of Sierra Madre.

Dr. Adda H. Brady of 129 Esplanade avenue, entertained with Thanksgiving dinner. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. James Byers of Alhambra; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Byers of Hollywood; and Dr. Brady's house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hedges.

The N. W. Tarr family, of 247 West Montecito avenue, enjoyed a family dinner party at their home on Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Greece of 549 West Montecito avenue, entertained out-of-town guests on Thanksgiving Day at dinner. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Greece, and Miss Elsie Greece of Alhambra, and Mr. and Mrs. Carol N. Vorhis of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Robertson, of 371 Adams street, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Edwin P. Nicholson, of Ontario, at dinner on Thanksgiving Day.

"Italia Mia" the famous home of Miss Thomasella H. Graham, 457 North Lima street, was the scene of a lovely Thanksgiving Day celebration. Mrs. C. G. Fennell assisted the hostess, Miss Graham. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Graham and Miss Eleanor Marvin, of Sierra Madre, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Brown and children, of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Albrecht of 687 West Alegria avenue, entertained with a Thanksgiving dinner on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Mackie, of 234 North Lima street, entertained with a family dinner party on Thanksgiving Day at their home. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hedges.

Pupils Here Will Stage An Operetta

More than 40 pupils of the grammar school today diligently practiced their musical scores in preparation for the operetta "Dawn Boy," which will be presented in the school auditorium December 11 and 12, under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher's Association.

The operetta, which calls for a chorus of more than 30 voices, has half a dozen principal parts. Eight or more of the school children are trying out for these parts at present. Selections for the leads will be made after several more rehearsals, it was said.

The theme of the piece is based on an old Indian legend which tells of the offer of Dawn Boy, an Indian youth, who volunteers to plead with the Rain God to send showers so that his tribe's crops will not be ruined. In the second scene the voice of the Rain God is heard off stage. This difficult part will be taken by an adult singer, Gray Oliver.

The book and lyrics were written by Mrs. H. E. Allen, secretary of the school board. Teachers of the grammar school who will aid in the staging include the Misses Mary Pfahler, Virginia Berry, Virginia Brainerd, Florence Lusted and Mrs. Mary Wheeler.

MRS. STEINBERGER TO ENTERTAIN CLUB WOMEN

Mrs. J. Milton Steinberger of 501 Mariposa avenue, will entertain the drama section of the Sierra Madre Woman's club at her home next Tuesday at an evening of drama. Mrs. J. Glenwood Jones will be speaker of the evening.

DUTY OF EVERYONE

We have heard much of the English dote, that it is essential for this country and that it would be a menace to our institutions. Most of the discussion has dealt with theories. But a letter printed in the Manchester (England) Guardian, from an actual recipient of the dote deals with facts. He sensitively describes the humiliation and the misery of thousands of the people who are given it. And he says, "Politicians wrangle and governments change, but there is no new program, no suggestion of how to find the money to pay you for the work you are willing and anxious to do. . . . This unemployment is an effect, not a cause. . . . Only a cure which gets at the root, which traces the causes all over the world, can carry a message of hope."

This is from England, and conditions are far better here. Even so, it is something we cannot disregard. Employment is the cure for the dote—and for the destruction of character and pride which the dote causes. Industrial leaders are now working on the problem and several great businesses have instituted cures for unemployment within their organizations. Every business should do likewise, so far as it is able, and every citizen should do his bit to keep the need for the dote away from American shores.

Smith Beats Terry In Opening Match Of Tennis Tourney

Hampered by cold weather, play in the Sierra Madre tennis tournament began last Sunday after a postponement of two weeks. Emile Smith won the opening singles match from Fred Terry, 6-0, 3-6, 6-1.

The Smith-Terry contest was hotly fought, even though the low temperature prevented the players from reaching their best form. Superior placing and steady efficient stroking won the match for Smith.

Friend Tells How Lee Shippey's Oratory Rang Oxnard Fire Bells

By HARRY BURKE

"Alex McLaren is the name—just plain Alex, no middle name. You see my father was Scotch, and he wasn't extravagant even in names."

Mr. McLaren—which is probably the first time he has ever been mistreated, being that kind of a human—loll back in his chair at the Sierra Madre hotel, puffed at his cigar.

"A week ago I called Lee Shippey on the phone," he said. "Lee, I said, 'I haven't been in Sierra Madre for 40 years. How is it for health? Not been sleeping well, folks are away and might run up for a spell.' Just what the doctor ordered," Lee said, and so I ran up and the first night I slept like a top, and here I'll stay till my folks come home and we open up our house in Hollywood."

Mr. McLaren leaned back against a suit case that looked like a rainbow. "Been across the Atlantic six times," he said. "I tried to stop 'em making it a bill board, but no use. They sure like plaster labels."

Here 40 Years Ago

"Yes I was here 40 years ago," he said. "Skirted the mountains up there with a burro pack on the way to San Gabriel Canyon. Of course Sierra Madre wasn't much in those days. My recollection is that there were some big ranches down below here—grapes and grapes, not much citrus. I had started with two other men from Los Angeles. We stopped at San Gabriel, camped there awhile, then came up through here. Spent the summer in San Gabriel canyon, had a good time hunting and fishing but no luck prospecting. Couldn't find any real leads. Potted around, found a few little streaks but nothing worth working. That summer made a deer house out of me. Came back from Europe this year to go after deer. Just got back from the Feather river country."

"Yes, I've been a sort of rolling stone all my life. They say a rolling stone never gathers any moss, but I've always answered that by asking how a setting hen gets fat? No, I'm not rich, but I have a nice home, get three square meals a day, and manage to go along. Have done most everything, from punching, prospecting, mining engineer, fiction writer, movie actor and director, hunter, traveler, gentleman of leisure, and what have you."

"Met your Lee Shippey about five years ago. Wrote him a letter, going to the bat with him about the water hole in Hollywood, and so we got acquainted. Every once in a while we go off somewhere, just snooping 'round looking for something Lee can write about. And that reminds me. Do you know Lee is some orator? Holds the marathon record. No foolin'. I can prove it."

Lee Makes A Speech

"About three years ago Lee phoned me. 'Alex,' he says, 'how's the old bus runnin'?' Okay I said. 'How'd you like to run me to Oxnard?' he said. 'I understand they have a Chinese fire department there, and I want to get a story. Well, to make a short story long, we rode up there. Took Walter Sinclair, the fiction writer, along. Lee walked into the newspaper office and the editor grabbed him. 'You fellows are the answer to a prayer,' the editor said. 'The Rotary is giving a luncheon and our speakers have run out on us.' 'Well, we fell for it, the luncheon being attractive. They called on me first but I was a bust, so I passed in favor of Sinclair. He passed the buck to Lee, and Lee started. Lee told a few stories, recited a mile or two of his poetry, then told a few more stories out of his books. The hours rolled by, then a few days passed and Lee kept right on. Those Oxnard Rotarians, being nice respectful gentlemen, didn't know what to do. Then one of 'em managed to slip out."

"In a few seconds, just as Lee was warming up to his stentorian peroration, the fire whistle let out a blast. Every Rotarian present, being a volunteer fireman, vanished from the hall instantly, leaving Lee high and dry and all alone. Like Sol Smith Russell he had a large and enthusiastic audience of empty seats, not red plush."

"What's the idea?" he asked the editor before we left. "Why we thought you would like to see the Chinese fire department," said the editor.

"Oh yes, they had some Chinamen on the department. And Lee got his story."

GIFT SEEKERS FIND REAL OPPORTUNITY AT ASCENSION SALE

The Christmas Sale at the Parish House of the Episcopal Church next Thursday, December 3rd, will afford an opportunity for the selection of real home-made gifts, an opportunity not likely to be overlooked by those too busy to do such work themselves.

In addition to a wide variety of smaller articles, the ladies of the Guild have been working all summer on several patchwork quilts. The members of St. Catherine's Guild will have charge of the candy table and their fame as candy makers needs no boosting. At the stationery and art booth there will be an especially beautiful assortment of holiday greeting cards and pictures.

The dinner, served from 5:30 to 9:30 is in charge of Mrs. William Lees and will be of the same splendid quality which the former dinners have established as a standard. As the number of diners is to be limited on account of less space being available because of the booths, those desiring reservations are urged to call Mrs. Dietz, promptly.

Ma Porter Sold Her Hearts Blood—A Doughnut Recipe—For Her Country

Ma Porter's raised doughnuts were the envy and despair of her neighbors. The recipe had been handed down from generation to generation and it was Ma's most cherished possession; in fact Ma's worldly goods amounted to very little and she was often obliged to scrimp on her daily rations to buy the ingredients for her beloved doughnuts.

It gave Ma a feeling of prestige to carry her basket of delicious, crispy brown rings to the Ladies Aid. Her recipe . . . remained always . . . a secret. On a brilliant Autumn day the Ladies Aid was indulging in their weekly luncheon and sewing bee. The fragrance of coffee mingled with the spice of gossip that was in the air.

Miz Lambert was the center of attention. She was an important personage in the village. Money talks—and Miz Lambert was the wife of the great and wealthy Mr. John James Artemus Lambert. A complacent smile was on the face of the lady as she smoothed the folds of her best frock carefully and flicked an imaginary crumb with a quirked finger.

"What air you going to give the Red Cross, this year, Miz Brown?" the important one queried.

Miz Brown blushed slightly. Mr.

MARTIS RETURN TO RESUME RESIDENCE IN SIERRA MADRE

Once more the lasting memories of Sierra Madre's beauty have caused a family to re-establish a residence here after a prolonged absence. In this case it is Mr. and Mrs. John Marti who for the past five years, have lived in Cleveland, Ohio.

"We never forgot Sierra Madre," Mrs. Marti declared Tuesday. "And the Eastern winters are too cold. Therefore we came back to Sierra Madre where we can live without freezing to death. Of course, we have always kept our home here, and will move into the house about December 1, when the present tenants vacate."

Mrs. Marti said her husband, a restaurant man, will possibly enter business after surveying the restaurant field. At present the family is living at 290 West Highland. Their home is at 430 East Montecito. The Martis have two sons, Walter, 20, and Werner, 14, who are attending Pasadena Junior College.

IN THE GREAT STATE OF WEDDED BLISS

After 33 years of married life, Mrs. John Cannon of Chicago, mother of 11 children, is seeking a divorce.

David Glenn of St. Louis was sentenced to prison for setting fire to his house to drive out his wife who had forbidden him to darken her doorway for two years.

"I agree with you; your wife is impossible," said Judge Harris of Chicago, in granting Henry Flory a divorce.

A romance that begun in Columbus, O., almost 45 years ago has led to the marriage of Francis Mellon, 70, of Washington, and Ida Darling, 64, of Columbus.

Hot Lead

By Judge W. R. Lasater

INTRODUCING Comrade Fredrick Andersen, the 8th in this series of sketches. Being a newspaper man, Andersen will "strut his own stuff," hence the quotation marks:

"I was playing violin in Woodward Stock Company, Kansas City, Mo., when bitten by the army bug. Along with two other victims with the same malady, enlisted in U.S. Cavalry in 1914. We were headed for the 'Land of the Little Brown Brother' when the squadron was recalled for Mexican border duty where, with the units, we joined Funston in Old Mexico, we joined the chase for the elusive Pancho Villa. Later went sticking type on Henry J. Allen's Wichita Beacon, 'Vic' Murdock's Wichita Eagle and chasing ad copy on Henry Allen White's Emporia Gazette, ruefully counting 30c in change after a big bust in the Oklahoma oil fields."

"But the cure was not complete. Reenlisted in Troop B, K.N.G. Cavalry just in time to be sent to Camp Doniphan, Okla. Here Kansas units were merged with Missouri units and formed into the 35th N. G. Division. Conversant with the French and German languages, was transferred to divisional G-2 where I stayed put. Spent five months in hospital for trying to ascertain which side of a German bayonet was sharpest. Later I was dispatched on special duty into Germany."

"Complete recovery from army bug bite. Highly recommend four-year hitch in hard-boiled outfit as sure cure for anyone bitten by army bug. If this fails to cure, recovery is impossible. Since 1920, have acquired one wife, innumerable debts, poor judgment and fallen arches. La Guerre Fini! Viva Soldat!"

Anderson is a compositor and general all around newspaper man and at present employed by the Sierra Madre News. His known hobby: struggling with an unquenchable ambition to write and sell short stories.

OLD FASHIONED songs by the club chorus opened Wednesday's morning hour program at the Woman's Club. Announcements were then made. For the bridge-benefit on the evening of December 11, being put on by the club for the relief of local unemployment—donations of refreshments and prizes by members and friends of the club will be welcomed so that as much as possible may be contributed to the Sierra Madre Red Cross fund. Offers of such donations should be telephoned to Mrs. R. C. Coppenhaver, 131-4, or Mrs. George Lehner, 341-1.

Mrs. John Osgood stressed the necessity for the making of "grilled luncheon" reservations for the garden section picnic meeting planned for December 14. Reservations should be telephoned to Mrs. Osgood, 325-3, not later than December 11.

The next reception at the Little Gallery will be held December 3 at 8 p.m. The community is cordially invited to enjoy the exhibit and meet the contributing artists.

Mrs. Crandall, a member of the district art committee, will talk on "Madonnas in Art" at 10 a.m., December 14 in the Los Angeles Public Library. Following the box-luncheon, garden section members will visit the Episcopal St. Vincent, St. John and the St. Agnes cathedrals where paintings and statues of the Madonna will be viewed.

Miss Jones presented Mr. Goodcell, a representative of the Automobile Club of Southern California, who gave a most interesting account of the touring party trip taken last year by the Los Angeles to Mexico City, under the auspices of the Automobile Club, which is sponsoring the International Pacific Highway. This road when completed will extend 12,000 miles from Fairbanks in Alaska to Argentina in South America.

"From 1540 when Spanish explorers ventured into Mexico for the purposes of conquest, to 1931 when this venture in international understanding is being made—the attitude of one country toward another has changed materially," said Mr. Goodcell.

"This road," continued Mr. Goodcell, "for which the automobile club is glad to help blaze a trail and proud to sponsor will tap every major highway in the western United States as well as promote better economic conditions and help to unite the two Americas."

Mrs. O. B. Manchester then "turned the pages" of highlights in current events in a most interesting manner.

Later around the box-luncheon tables, Mrs. Manchester gave a literature review of the most worthy of the current books of the month. In her inimitable way she discussed Jastrow's "Effective Thinking," Strickner and Appels' "Discovering Ourselves," George Gibbs' "Old Philadelphia" which depicts the historic atmosphere of a great old city. As perfection from the literary viewpoint, Mrs. Manchester commended Schmitz's "Viennese Novellees." "For character delineation, Shella Kaye-Smith's 'Susan Spray' is outstanding," said Mrs. Manchester.

In conclusion Hayden's lovely "Gifts to the Giver" as quoted—leaving just the proper note with the club for Thanksgiving Day.

Fire Flames

By one of the boys

THE MEN of the Fire Department have plenty to do on their "time off" and the ladies of the the Auxiliary have a whole lot more to do than the men. With broken toys coming in to be "doctored" and with preparation for the forthcoming Xmas events, and the Big Spring Wistaria Festival coming near, the men and women will have no idle time on their hands.

Last Friday was the ladies night to meet, and the quilts they are making have grown to a considerable size. No men are supposed to be present at their meetings, but when the "reporter" was admitted he found Chief Richards, Jim Heasley and Frank Hildebrandt there devouring the last course of a triangular piece of pie. Frank is an honorary member of the department, having been an active fireman for several years. He was always a good fireman—even so far as to possess a perfect appetite.

The snap has gone out of the fire siren. It gives a long, monotonous blast that does not carry as well as the shrill screech of varying tones that goes forth when the thing is in good working order. A stiff wind was blowing when the alarm was sent in for the night fire late last week. It carried the noise off in one direction and several of the firemen did not hear the call in their homes. Several who did get the alarm were delayed in getting to the fire because when they called up to get the location they found the telephone wires cluttered with calls by citizens who not only kept the operators busy telling where the fire was, but what it was. It would greatly facilitate the answering of alarms and increase the public safety if our curious citizens were to delay their demands for information for some time after an alarm is sounded so that the firemen, who must answer the call, may first locate the scene of the fire.

Yank up the asbestos curtain, the FIRE'S OUT.

IN YOUR GARDEN

By JESSIE WARD RUSSELL Landscape Gardener

PAPAYA CULTURE

REAL JOY COMES WITH GAY COLOR FROM BULBS

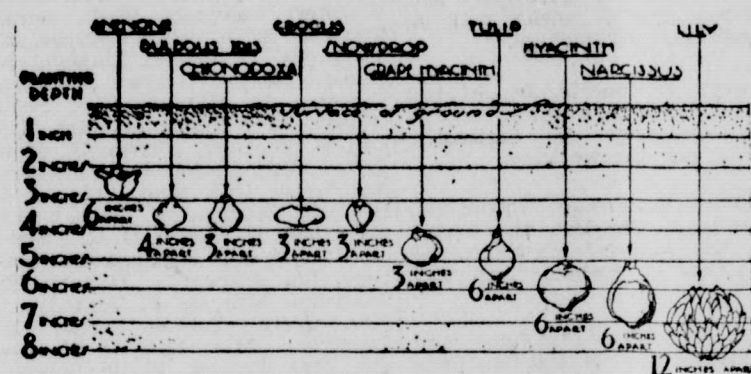

YOU WILL greet with real joy the gay colors and living warmth of flowering bulbs next Spring. Nothing can make your grounds more attractive and brighten your garden greater during the early months of the year. Once you plant them you will find in them a fast friend. Their delightful beauty is something you will look forward to with assurance each spring, for it is the bulb-borne flowers that usher in that season.

SOIL—Any good, thoroughly drained soil will grow bulbs well. If it should be in a heavy clay it will be best to add sand and well-rotted manure to make it loose. Care must be taken to see

ONE of the most interesting of our tropical fruits is the Papaya or tree-melon. In Hawaii and other tropical countries it is thought a great deal of and is used for a breakfast fruit, as we use cantaloupes and other melons. The fruit is quite large and borne in abundance on the main trunk of the tree. The foliage is cut and shaped somewhat like a giant castor-bean leaf. The foliage and fruit both grow out from a main stem or trunk that is quite thick in proportion to its height.

The fruit when ripe is yellow in color. The season extends over the whole year although most of the fruit ripens during the spring months from fruit that has set the summer before. It is sometimes necessary to thin the fruit that no manure will come into direct contact with the bulbs for if it does the bulbs are liable to rot.

FEEDING—If a good plant food is used at time of planting the vigor of the plant will be longer stems and larger flowers. There are balanced plant foods available commercially which are easy and pleasant to use and better than any other fertilizer for the purpose.

PLANTING—In formal beds where regularity of arrangement is desired it is best to excavate to the proper planting depth and space the bulbs evenly as desired. By doing this all will flower at the same time on stems equal in length. Some gardeners advocate placing the bulbs on a layer of same for drainage.

Where formality and regularity of bloom is not so important the bulbs may be laid out on the beds and planted one at a time with a trowel or special dibble. Where naturalistic effects are desired a pleasing carefree irregularity is achieved by scattering the bulbs by the handful, throwing them gently as they drop, then planting them where they lie.

SPRAYING FOR BROWN ROT HELPS GROWERS

Citrus growers some times suffer great loss in navel and lemon orchards from brown rot of the fruits. This is a disease that causes a rapid breaking down of the fruit due to an infection by a fungus organism which comes to the surface of the ground during cool, rainy, weather in the late or early winter according to Farm Advisor Rounds.

The growers should each year spray his orchard with a Bordeaux spray. Treatment should be given as early as possible in November or December, spraying the surface of the ground underneath the trees, as well as the fruit and branches about three feet in height.

CROWN CITY VETOES PLAN TO BOOST RATES FOR UNEMPLOYMENT

Hundreds of unemployed will find work in Pasadena, under a plan suggested by City Manager J. W. Charleville, who reported against a proposition to raise rates of the city owned utilities. In the light department improvements providing employment at a cost of $40,000 a month for 260 extra men, will be financed by the sale of $400,000 in securities. In the water department 100 more men will be hired at a monthly expense of $10,000.

SEEBRE DASHES OFF FOR VISIT IN THE NORTH

There was a great flutter of excitement on Kersting Court on Tuesday evening, when Ralph V. Seebree of East Central avenue, rushed madly about trying to accomplish a hundred and one tasks in the last five minutes before his train pulled out. Everyone in Kersting Court was out to wish him God-speed. Mr. Seebree was leaving for Pacific Grove to spend Thanksgiving Day with his two brothers, Charles H. and Walter R. Seebree.

Miss Ella Shepard Bush of 223 West Laurel avenue, will hold an exhibition of over fifty of her miniatures at the Daisel Hatfield Gallery, 2508 West Seventh street, Los Angeles, during December.

Local Football Flash Is Winning Great Attention

His sensational performances on the gridiron, are attracting no end of attention to Leslie Miller, local boy who is starring as an end on the Pasadena Junior College first string. In his "Pasadena Champions" department in Pasadena Star-News, Charles W. Paddock had this to say of Miller:

"The high scorer of the Pasadena Junior College upper division football team this season has been Les Miller, an end. It is rather remarkable that a wingman should have acquired these honors. But young Mr. Miller happens to be quite a remarkable fellow.

"He is 20 years old and stands six feet in his stockings. He weighs 175 pounds and the amount of surplus fat on his carcass could be concealed in a gnat's eye with room to spare. He looks like a real athlete, though new to Pasadena Junior College . . . he has already made good in a great big way.

"Leslie's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Miller, live at 265 Mountain Trail avenue, Sierra Madre, and watch the progress being made by their athletic son, with immense enthusiasm. They are delighted that Les has as his hobby athletics, and they are glad to see him prepare himself to follow physical education as a life's work. Les wants to be eventually an athletic director and he certainly has already made a splendid start in that direction.

Tom Tyler Named Local Agent For New Refrigerator

"Yes, we're what you might call completely balanced now," said Tom Tyler, proprietor of the Sierra Madre Furniture Company, North Baldwin avenue. "First we had a stock of furniture, then we added a radio service, now we have been given the direct factory agency for the new Westinghouse refrigerator, which, as its slogan says, is 'completely balanced.' Mr. Tyler invites all the town folk in to take a look at the 'answer to the housekeeper's prayer' as he puts it. 'It is the result of the technical genius of world famed engineers,' he says. 'They sought efficiency rather than a show piece. It is quiet, cannot overheat, and has a safety zone. In fact it seems to be a perfect machine.'"
